PREFACE

This volume is a double one, and its finance is interesting. The Banbury index is a joint publication and is the first records publication of the Banbury Historical Society. Its Hon. Secretary, our member Mr Gibson, not only extracted relevant entries contained in the larger manuscript now at the Bodleian, but has also generously subsidised its production with that of Miss Harvey’s edition of the Islip Custumal and Bye-laws. The Council has long wished to see the Islip documents printed, but they were too short alone to justify the issue of a special volume. This action is enabling the Society to print much more of the Henley Borough Records in a single volume, for 1960, than we could have afforded in 1959, and has more than offset in this year the action of the Inland Revenue in refusing to repay income tax on covenanted subscriptions. It is paradoxical to see that enthusiasm in the extreme north of the county will thus make possible the publication of important mediaeval records in the extreme south, where a consciousness of local history is less evident.

W. O. Hassall,
Hon. Secretary.
INTRODUCTION

to the Index to Wills Proved in the Peculiar Court of Banbury.

Most Oxfordshire wills before 1838 were proved in one of three Courts: the wills of the superior one of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury (P.C.C.) are kept at Somerset House, and those of the inferior ones of the Consistory and Archdeaconry Courts (indexed together) have recently been transferred to the Bodleian Library.

There were however certain groups of parishes, in Oxfordshire centred in Banbury, Dorchester and Thame, which were known as 'exempt or peculiar jurisdictions', or, more simply, 'pecularis', because they were not under the supervision of the bishop or archdeacon or subject to their visitation. When the diocese of Oxford was created in 1542 the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln continued to exercise jurisdiction over the Peculiar of Banbury: that is, for Banbury, Cropredy, which included Great and Little Bourton, Claydon, Mollington and Wardington, Horley and Horton, in Oxfordshire, and Kings Sutton in Northamptonshire. Until 1858 the Peculiar Court replaced for the inhabitants of these places the Archdeaconry and Consistory Courts, though the superior Court of course remained P.C.C. The index printed here is part of a combined index to the Peculiar Courts of Berks., Bucks. and Oxon. made by Mr. E. R. Cheyne at the beginning of this century, existing in manuscript form at the Bodleian Library. All testamentary records of these peculiars were also transferred to the Bodleian, in January 1939.

Other indexes exist at the Bodleian to all wills of the whole county proved in the Oxfordshire Archdeaconry and Consistory Courts. Before 1574 wills relating to inhabitants of the places in the Banbury peculiar are to be found first in the first of these indexes. These pre-1574 entries and a few stray of later date (up to 1732) have been extracted, and will be found printed in this volume in italics. Other 'inferior' Courts in which 'stray' wills may be found are the Archdeaconry Courts of Buckinghamshire and Peterborough and the Consistory Court of Lincoln. It has not unfortunately been possible to search them.

The only other 'exempt' Court in north Oxfordshire was the Manorial Court of Sibford Gower. This only concerned Sibford Gower and Sibford Ferris, hamlets in the parish of Swalcliffe, and was probably inferior to the Archdeaconry and Consistory Courts. Although all entries for it have been extracted from the combined Pecularis index and included here, no attempt has been made to extract the many entries for all periods to be found in the Archdeaconry and Consistory index of the whole county.

Before 1736 normally only the originals or filed copies of the documents exist—with all the attendant difficulties of differing handwriting and fragile paper. There are however two early registers of wills and grants of administration: Blunt, 1585-1599; and Wode, partly duplicating Blunt, and 1698-1733. Neither are more than large exercise books, but they are in good condition. From 1736 to 1858 wills have been copied into a series of registers, Books J-R (these books have individual indexes, in which there are also a number of references to wills proved in P.C.C.).

Grants of Administration from 1674 are to be found in an Act Book, written in one 19th century hand throughout. Other documents exist only in original state. Reference numbers against an entry refer to these registers, and the absence of any number shows that only the original or filed copy exists. Although some of the powers of Peculiars were officially abolished in 1840, a few wills continued to be proved until 1858.

Wills and Grants of administration for the Manorial Court of Sibford Gower have been copied into two registers, Book 1, 1732-1786, and Book 2, 1789-1829. Originals or filed copies of wills proved between 1732 do not appear to exist.

2 Except for one curious exception, William Gill, 1537.
3 Oxon. Archaeological Soc. Report for 1909, p. 35, has a list of a few Oxon. wills preserved at Lincoln, including, 1557, William Beale, Thomas Basbe, Roger Husyate; 1559, Thomas Savage (pt. 1573); 1580, Agnes Letche; 1591, John Danvers.
INDEX TO BANBURY WILLS

In editing this index I have followed the style of the manuscript at the Bodleian in many respects. However, whilst the original spelling has been retained for Christian names (and indicated in parentheses when differing for the surname), trades and place-names have normally, though not invariably, been modernized.

It is hoped that the meaning of the abbreviations, which have been generously used, will usually be obvious. From the list below it will be seen that the wills themselves are by no means the only documents to be found amongst the records to which this book is an index. Bouwens' Notes on Testamentary Procedure will clarify the meaning of most. Of the more obscure it is difficult without seeing them individually to know what information they will hold, but they are fairly certain to provide a few names if nothing more.

B. — Banbury
W. — Will
Bd. — Bond
Inv. — Inventory
Acct. — Account (a list of executors' or administrators' expenses)
Renun. — Renunciation (the refusal of an executor or administrator to act)
Ad. W. de Bo. — Administration de Bonis Non with Will Annexed (which is taken out in the event of the death of an executor before probate has been granted, and also before the executor has finished the administration or division of the estate)

My thanks are due to the President of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division for permission to publish this extract from the Index to Wills proved in the Peculiar Courts, and for his permit to the Literary Department of the Principal Probate Registry which enabled me to transcribe it; also the staff of that department, and in particular to Mr. G.M.T. Kirkwood, an endless source of patient and courteous information; to Dr. W.O. Hassall and Miss D.M. Barratt, of the Bodleian, and Dr. E.R.C. Brinkworth, for help with my introduction; to Mr. V. Bromley, and Mr. G. F. Eglesfield; to the Society of Genealogists, for permission to reprint the late Mr. B. G. Bouwens' Notes on Testamentary Procedure from Wills and their Whereabouts, which they publish; and finally to the long-suffering compositors of Messrs. Henry Stone & Son (Printers) Ltd.

J.S. W.G.
The usual procedure was for the Executors [Exors.] or Executrix [Exx.] to take the Will [W.] to the appropriate Court—or the Court came to them, for the Bishop [Bp.] often licensed the Rector of the parish as his Commissary to grant Probate or Admon.

The Court being satisfied that the Will was in order passed a Probate Act [Pr.], recorded it—ultimately in a Probate Act Book; probably also endorsed it also on the original Will; took a Probate Copy of the Will; sealed it and gave it to the Exors. as authorisation; impounded and filed the original Will; and sometimes made a further copy in a bound volume of Registered Wills for office use and consultation by interested parties. In early days—roughly to 1660—it was common usage to return the original Will to the Exors. and retain the probate copy—and register copy if any, thus reversing the original practice. In some Registries are considerable numbers of Wills proved but unregistered. One may surmise that the fee for Registration was optional and occasionally resented.

In Intestacy the next of kin applied for letters of Administration [Admnr., Adm., Ad. or A.]. The procedure was very similar to that for a Will. The Administrator(s) entered into Bond to administer faithfully 'being first sworn upon the Holy Evangelists' just as were Exors. The Admon. Act was entered—ultimately in an Ad. Act Bk.—and probably endorsed on the Administration Bond which was filed. In early days it was usual with Wills and almost invariable with Admons. to submit an Inventory [Inv. or I.] of the goods of the deceased; and this was very commonly attested by Supervisors named in the Will to help the Exors.

Occasionally an Exor. Renounced Exorship. being unwilling to Act.

In the case of minors left fatherless the Court sometimes appointed a Guardian who gave a bond of tuition or guardianship which was duly filed—sometimes with the Will or Admon., sometimes separately.

Properly speaking a Will deals with real estate; land and buildings; a Testament with Personality—any other sort of property, clothing, furniture, stock, farm or trade tools or appliances; bonds, book debts or money in any form. For centuries it has been customary to combine both in one legal Instrument, and in this book the term Will is used for either or both.

In feudal days land passed by tenure and personal possessions were few and bestowed verbally by the dying; wherefore wills were infrequent. Partly for that reason and partly due to the violent upheavals of the Reformation, few, or comparatively few W. or A., at least of lesser folk, exist before late Elizabeth. The Civil War again upset all business—it was useless to register the Will of an outlaw and imprudent to deal with a Court which might be repudiated tomorrow. From 1632 to 1660 all Ecclesiastical Testamentary Jurisdiction was abolished and Civil Commissioners in London alone had power to grant Probate or Admon. for all England—thus anticipating by two centuries the Act of 1857. Their proceedings are dovetailed in with the records of P.C.C. thus making that series continuous. None the less there are in most Registries a few entries of that period; possibly—at least in some cases—effected after the Restoration and ante-dated; or sometimes copies of London grants R.E.-registered provisionally under date of the original London grant.

Common abbreviations are PPR.—Principal Probate Registry, now housed in Somerset House, once Doctors Commons. P.R.O.—Public Record Office, Chancery Lane. PCC—Prerogative Court of Canterbury [sometimes CPC—Canterbury Prerog. Ct.]. PCY—ditto York. Brit. Mus. or B.M.—British Museum. The general role of jurisdiction was that a testator with Bona Notabilia [Bon. Not.] £5 in goods, wholly in one jurisdiction, could prove therein. If he had Bon. Not. in two he had to prove in the higher over-riding Court. Thus a testator holding solely in one Archdeaconry or other minor Court could prove there. If in two such, in the Episcopal Court. If in two Bishopricks, in the Arch Episcopal Prerogative Court, and if in two Provinces, in the senior, Canterbury.

During the—usually triennial—Visitation by the Bishop or Ecclesiastical superior the lower Court was Inhibited—generally for 3, sometimes for 4 or 6 months jurisdiction residing either in the Court of the visitant or in the usual Court by Commission in his name. During a Vacancy [Vacat.] in a See or other jurisdiction the Court of the Dean and Chapter [D. and C.] or of the Arch Bp. assumed Jurisdiction; occasionally some other Court by particular provision. In many cases the visitant or vacancy jurisdiction acted only pro forma, immediately reappointed all officers of the inhibited or dissolved Court, and directed it to carry on by Commission. Some of the Episcopal Consistory Courts were administered by Commission—as could be any Court. The commissary of the Archdeacon was termed his ‘Official’ and in very many Archdeaconries there are nominally two Courts—that of the Commissary of the Bishop for the Archdeaconry and that of the Official of the Archdeacon therein. Almost always the Bp’s Commissary and the Official of the Archdeacon are the same Solicitor and the records of both Courts are kept together. The same is often true of other concurrent jurisdictions: but not invariably, The small man mostly proved in the lowest permissible Court—probably it involved less trouble and the fees were smaller—a consideration—

For who so will prove a testament
He shall pay for the parchment

That is not worth all tenne pound
The third of the money all round.

“...constables of Nottingham at the Court Leet present the Master Official [of the Archdeacon] for excessive and exorbitant taking of fees for probate of testaments”. Selden Soc. Records, III 364.

—but from early days people of property largely went to the Prerogative Courts, both as having greater weight and better care of their records in case of later dispute. Up to the early—or even mid—XVIII century it seems to have been quite usual among small folk not to prove the Will at all it there were no dispute; saving bother, delay, and fees; it being no one’s business to interfere. This may explain puzzling cases where no record of a Will can be found in spite of almost complete certainty that one existed. In earlier times Wills were proved very promptly; generally within a month, sometimes in days. As time passed legal complexity made “the laws delays” a catch phrase and the compiler has recently come across an early XIX century Will not proved for eleven years owing to trifling irregularity.

Those who had made no will and believed themselves dying could hurriedly summon ’creditable witnesses’ and declare their wishes verbally. The witnesses were later sworn, and the Court being satisfied with their Depositions allowed the substance as a Nuncupative Will. This privilege is now commonly limited to combatants on Active Service.

Sometimes during long testamentary Trusts—the compiler has met with one lasting over 200 years—trustees and beneficiaries died to an extent requiring further direction by the Court. In such cases a Second Probate or even a Third, may be granted. The particulars are generally entered in the margin of the Register copy of the Will and are often of the greatest genealogical value as giving dates of deaths of original beneficiaries and names and births of their children.

It may happen that where two Exors. are named only one is immediately available and Probate is granted to him ’with power reserved to A.B. the remaining Exor.’ Should the second Exor. apply for inclusion the Court may give a regrant of Double Probate. The entry Admon. with Will annexed usually means that the testator left a perfectly good Will but that either through death or renunciation the exors. named are not available and Administration has to be granted to the next of kin (as a rule) to act Exor. to the Will.

Where a Will is irregular, unsigned, interlined, unwitnessed, etc., the procedure is similar to that with a Nuncupative Will. Witnesses depose to the recognisable handwriting or known intentions of the testator. A similar procedure is used in reproving the Will proved outside Great Britain of one having Bon. Not. therein. These and other Depositions should be recorded in some sort of Register or Act Book. The Court may accept such a Will by Sentence. In some cases of minor irregularity—and in registration of ‘foreign’ wills—the Registrar(?) can pass the Will by Decree. Disputed Wills after trial before the appropriate Court are entered by Sentence and are filed PCC though the Proceedings of the Court may be in PRO or elsewhere.

PCC (and possibly other Courts—if any) Wills pr. by Sentence are often Calendared together under letter “S” [Sententiae] and NOT under the initial of the testator’s surname.

The benefited Clergy—sometimes Rectors only—are generally obliged to prove in the Court of their Bishop. Up to the Reformation—and even later—transcripts of their wills, and of others as occasion required, may be found in the Episcopal Register of Bishops’ Books which are generally kept in the diocesan Registry—which is entirely distinct from the Probate Registry. A good many such are Calendared in print and the references are NOT always given here; so see Select Biography of English Genealogy, H. G. Harrison, 1937.
INDEX TO BANBURY WILLS

The wills of persons dying at sea are proved PCC as are those of persons with Bon. Not. in England dying abroad (but either class with Bon. Not. wholly in the Northern Province can prove PCY). In place of the County of residence in the Calendars will be found “Pts.” or “pts.”, a contraction for “parts oversea”. Those with property wholly abroad will (probably) have no English probate at all. A great many Irish wills have English Registration, as do those of the bi-national Hollanders of the XVIII century—both in PCC.

In some of the larger Registries there were several ‘seats’, each entering particular records, generally on a geographical basis. Hence early Registers mostly overlap and have to be consulted concurrently. Hence also that considerable search is required to determine whether a series is continuous or has gaps—or as the 1830 Returns have it 'chasms'. The absence of a volume is not always proof that it ever existed. A 'spare number' may have been left for eventualities, and never wanted. In almost every Registry are a few Wills of testators outside the jurisdiction. It is not easy to see why.

There is practically no spelling before the middle of XVIII Century. Quite an educated man will spell his own name differently in the same document. He also latinises all his daughters names except Eliz. and calls Ann Anna, Harriet Henrietta, Maggie Margareetta, and Susan Susanna. In bequests to married daughters a common provision is that their sole receipt to the Exors. shall be valid, and that their husbands shall not ‘intermeddle’ with the bequest. This does not imply the least hostility to the son-in-law and is merely the precursor of the Married Women’s Property Act. It is perhaps worth mention that a wife dying in the life of her husband rarely left any Will—because, generally, she had nothing to leave.

A Chapelry is a subdivision of a large parish—most of them are now separate parishes.

In tail Male is the legal term for an entail on heirs male.

Right heirs are the heirs at law should the provisions of the Will be ineffective by death of all the beneficiaries.

Except in extremely old examples Wills are almost always on paper—the novelist is wrong. The Register copies however, having to stand wear and tear in an office, are often on skins. From a little after the Reformation Wills are mostly in English. Inventories—specially in Intestacy—are common to 1700 when they begin to be discontinued, and are seldom met with after 1770 ‘unless required by creditors or other interested persons’ as we learn from the 1830 Return. They are of use as showing the standing of the deceased, and very often his trade.

INDEX TO BANBURY WILLS

The Court of the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln in the Peculiar of Banbury

Banbury—a parish partly in Oxfordshire and partly in Northamptonshire, including the township of Neithrop, Oxfordshire (itself containing the hamlets of Wickham, Hardwick and Calthorpe, where St. John's Hospital once was), Easington, Oxfordshire, and the hamlets of Grimsbury (containing Huscote) and Nethercote, both in Northamptonshire. Spital Farm in Northamptonshire, the site of a lepers' hospital, occurs in one of the wills as "The Spittles".

Cropredy—a parish partly in Oxfordshire and partly in Warwickshire, including the chapelry of Claydon and Wardington, Oxfordshire (the latter itself containing the hamlets of Coton and Williamscot, or Wilslet), the chapelry of Mollington, partly in Oxfordshire and partly in Warwickshire, and the hamlets of Great and Little Bourton, Oxfordshire.

Kings Sutton—a parish in Northamptonshire, including parts of the hamlets of Astrop, Charlton and Purston, which hamlets are in the parishes of Kings Sutton and Newbottle.

Horley—a parish in Oxfordshire.

Hornton—a parish in Oxfordshire.

The Manorial Court of Sibford.
Includes parts of Burdrop, Sibford Ferris and Sibford Gower, all hamlets in the parish of Swalcliffe, Oxfordshire.

Note: These locations refer to the situation before the County boundary changes of 1889. These mainly affected the parish of Banbury, which is now covered wholly by Oxfordshire.

CUSTUMAL AND BYE-LAWS
OF THE MANOR OF ISLIP
OXFORDSHIRE
INTRODUCTION

The custumal and bye-laws printed below relate to the Abbot of Westminster's lands in Oxfordshire and principally to his manor of Islip. This manor comprised the vill of Islip and the Abbot's lands in Murcot and Fencot. It was allegedly given to Westminster Abbey by Edward the Confessor in 1063, finally secured by the Abbey in 1204, and held by it until 1340. The custumal mentions also the Abbot's lands in Oddington, Noke and Northbrook.

The custumal of 1391, now Westminster Abbey Muniment 15200, provides the first full account of the obligations of customary tenure at Islip and of the tenurial structure of the manor. When it was compiled, however, the economic changes of the later Middle Ages were in full spate there. Until the middle of the fourteenth century the demesne was still exploited directly and labour services much used. Week work had been commuted at Murcot and Fencot before 1279, but at Islip the Abbot had retained the option of choosing between works and money, and between 1327 and 1349 he demanded week work from nearly all the half-virgaters in that vill.2 Boon works were exacted in full from the customaries of each vill. This conservative economy was reflected in the tenurial structure of the manor. A late thirteenth century rental shows that the Hundred Rolls exaggerate the tenemental symmetry of Islip at that date;3 it is true, nonetheless, that the customary half-virgate was then the commonest holding in the manor. This it remained in the first half of the fourteenth century. The integrity of the work producing unit was thus well preserved. Leasold was unknown except for a few surplus demesne acres which the Abbot began to dispose of in the 1330's.4 Very few tenants had managed to accumulate more than one holding.

The Black Death, apparently, was the solvent of these conditions. All week work was commuted between 1349 and 1352.5 Half that due in the autumn was later reimposed on the majority of half-virgaters,6 but in 1386 all week work was permanently commuted.7 This was perhaps the occasion for the custumal. The first stock and land lease of the arable demesne was granted in 1360.8 Direct cultivation was resumed only for a brief period between 1389 and 1395. By 1391 leasold and composite holdings had developed to render obsolete the early fourteenth century classification of tenements. Both were consequences of the post-plague land surplus and both are more prominent at Islip, where the mortality rate among customary tenants in 1348-9 and 1361-2 had been heavy, than at Murcot and Fencot, where it had been light.9 Leasing of peasant holdings, as distinct from demesne, began in 3 Gloucestershire Records Office MS. D 1099, M 37. This rental names twenty-one tenants omitted from the Hundred Rolls, of whom seventeen appear to hold less than half a virgate.

7 The custumal refers this change to the abbacy of Nicholas de Littlington (1362-86); the ministers' accounts enable it to be dated to October or November 1386 (W.A.M. 14827).

the decade after 1349 in an attempt to keep all lands in occupation. The custumal testifies to the Abbot's intention of restoring the customary conditions of tenure when possible, for it records the proper customary rents and services for each tenement then at farm. Only one of the half-virgates leased in 1391, however, was taken again on the old terms. The composite holding—consisting usually of a nucleus of a customary half-virgate to which leaseholds had been added as opportunity offered—did not often survive the life-time of the tenant who built it up. The peasant aristocracy which the custumal describes is an unstable feature of a changing society.

The bye-laws are extracted from the court rolls of the manor, now in the Muniment Room at Westminster Abbey. Until 1539 they relate exclusively to the manor of Islip. In 1539 and 1540, however, the rolls include bye-laws for Noke and bye-laws regulating the common rights in Islip Wood claimed by Noke and two other adjacent vills—Wood Eaton and Beckley.

In the fifteenth century the Islip bye-laws are enacted with some form of common assent in every year except 1462. There are no grounds for supposing that this assent was other than bona fide. The Abbot was now a rentier with no direct interest in the regulation of gleaning and pasture rights. His steward would rely on common knowledge and common grievance to provide the substance of the laws. The omission of assent from the enacting words of the sixteenth century laws is of a piece with the declining importance of the homage in all activities of the court; but even now the laws are enacted by the chief pledges or the leet jury, not by the steward alone, and in 1533 a request for a law is recorded. Common assent is less frequently recorded in the bye-laws for Murcot and Fencot. A sufficient explanation of this is the distance of these vills from the court: it is unlikely that the whole homage attended even in the fourteenth century.

The custumal and bye-laws are printed by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter of Westminster and of Mr. L. E. Tanner, Librarian and Keeper of the Muniments. I beg to thank also Mr. R. V. Lennard for help in preparing the text and translation.

Custumal of the Manor of Islip

Islip. Custumal-revision made there on 18th June in the 14th year of the reign of King Richard the second after the conquest.

Free tenants.

Roger Powr' holds in fee of the lord his manor of Oddington with the advowson of its church for [half] a knight's fee. He shall do suit to the lord's two views of frankpledge each year, heriot, wardship, marriage and scutage when due.

John Gay holds of the lord in fee his manor of Northbrook for the fourth part of a knight's fee. He owes suit to the two views of frankpledge each year, heriot, wardship, marriage and scutage when due.

Richard Wilyamescote holds in fee one messuage and one carucate of land in the vill of Noke for the fourth part of a knight's fee. He owes suit to the two views of frankpledge each year—according to a certain old custumal he should do three-weekly suit—heriot wardship, marriage, relief and scutage when due, rendering yearly in equal instalments at Easter and Michaelmas.

Margaret Neeve holds in fee one messuage and two virgates of land. She shall do three-weekly suit to the lord's court, give heriot, relief, wardship and marriage when due, rendering yearly for them in equal instalments at the feast of St. Thomas the Apostle, the Annunciation of the Blessed Mary, the Nativity of St. John the Baptist and Michaelmas.

She also holds one toft on which a dovecot has been built. This was formerly held by Edmund Clerk and recently by Walter, the rector of Islip church. She renders yearly for it etc.

John Overeye holds in fee one messuage and half-virgate of land. He owes suit to the lord's court, heriot, relief, wardship and marriage when due, rendering yearly etc.

He also holds one weir with a fishery, doing suit of court as above and suit to the pleas of the forest on behalf of the lord Abbot and rendering yearly etc.

Richard Clerk holds in fee one messuage and half-virgate of land lately held by Edmund the clerk. He shall give heriot, relief, wardship and marriage and three-weekly suit of court, and he renders yearly etc.

He also holds certain parcels of demesne land, the position of which is not known at the moment, rendering yearly for them etc.

William Follere the chaplain holds one messuage and 2 acres of land lately held by John Morcote. He shall do all the services which Margaret Neeve does and render yearly etc.

He also holds one piece of common land behind his tenement towards the water, rendering yearly etc.

He also holds one piece of the common way by his tenement, rendering yearly for it etc.

Thomas de Berkleye, knight, holds in fee one messuage and one carucate of land in the vill of Noke, lately held by Sampson Foliot and afterwards by Warin de Lyle, rendering yearly for it at Michaelmas.

The lord of Whatcote renders yearly at Easter.

First sum 71s. 2d., proved.

8 Nicholas de Littlington, abbot 1362-86. The change was made in 1386; see above, p.80, n. 7.
9 The 'mathshup' was probably, like the 'madschep' recorded at Buckland in Gloucestershire, a sheep given to the mowers, but at Islip the perquisite was commuted. The same custom, without the name, is recorded at Wood Eaton, where the lord had the option of paying a shilling instead. See Gloucester Cartulary (Rolls Series), vol. iii, p. 64; Eytham Cartulary (Oxford Historical Society), vol. ii, p. 24; see also H. S. Bennett, Life on the English Manor
William Cowpere holds in villeinage one messuage and half-virgate of land lately held by Thomas Godhyne. This used to render 3s. a year or 2½ works a week throughout the year, value of work ½d.; afterwards, when Nicholas was abbot of Westminster, it was conceded to the said William and to all holding by like tenure that each of them should pay 6s. a year for the commutation of the said works and, in addition, he shall do one day's ploughing with half a plough at the winter sowing without food, value of work 2d., and one day's ploughing with half a plough at the Lenten sowing with food provided by the lord, value of work 1d., and give one hen worth ½d. at Christmas each year and 12 eggs worth ½d. at Easter. He used to pay ½d. a year at Whitsun for fencing for which he had a load of underwood, but this custom was to the lord's detriment and so has ceased. He shall weed for 3 days, value of work ½d., mow for 3 days, value of work 4d., and carry hay for 3 days, value of work 1d. In autumn he shall do 3 boons without food, value of work 2½d., and one boon with food at one meal provided by the lord, value of work ½d., and one boon called the loveboon for half a day without food or for the whole day with food at one meal provided by the lord, value of work ½d., and he shall carry hay for one day and corn for one day, value of work 4d. He used to collect nuts for one day, value of work 1d., but, for the remission of this work, he and his peers shall mow all the second crop of hay in 'le Mellehame'. He shall cut and carry wood for Christmas, value of work 1d. He used to do one day's carrying work each week with one horse and a sack, value of work 1½d., but this is remitted on account of the increase of the above-mentioned rent of 6s. He shall pay tallow and merchet with his peers and pay pannage, that is to say, for a pig a year or more old, 1d., for a pig of half a year, ½d., and for a pig three months old, ¼d.; and each customary tenant shall have [free] pannage for one full grown pig. If he threshes for one day he should have one truss of straw. If he mows for a whole day he should have one truss of grass. If he goes to the wood for a bundle of wood he should have a stick to carry it on. If he is reeve, or if he does the aforesaid works, he shall be quit of the aforesaid rent. He may collect dead wood if he wishes for his own use; the aforesaid hen and eggs are given in return for this. All the customary tenants below along with this customary shall have 3s. 4½d., and 1 quarter and 2 bushels of wheat for a custom called 'Mathshup'.

In addition, the said customary tenants shall have 6d. a year for mowing a certain piece of meadow in addition to their customary obligation. He shall not give his daughters in marriage, or sell a horse or ox of his own breeding without the lord's permission. He shall give heriot, do three-weekly suit to the lord's court and render yearly etc. 6s.

Thomas Hobbes holds in villeinage one messuage and half-virgate of land lately held by Alice Godhyne. He renders and does whatever the aforesaid William Cowpere does, and thus yearly etc. 6s.

William Man lately held one messuage and half-virgate of land (now at farm) which Gilbert Man held before him. He rendered and did etc. Now it is farmed to Agnes Man and Richard Bastevile separately, as appears among the farms. 6s.

(1948), p. 111. The commutation payment at Islip seems too high for a single sheep, but 40d. was paid 'pro Metteshep' at Piddington in Oxfordshire. See Cartulary of S. Frideswide's (Oxford Historical Society), vol. ii, p. 112. I owe this note to Mr. Lenard.

each offender, half to be paid to the church and half to the lord. And for guarding the corn fields in the whole time of harvest there were elected John Lake, William Bryd, and Richard Schypton as warden [wardens] of the fields, and they took the oath.\(^\text{16}\)

1420, 26 September. It is agreed in court here among the tenants of the vill of Islip that they shall rightly and competently make and repair their pound before the feast of Easter next to come;\(^\text{11}\) pain of 6s. 8d. It is agreed with the common assent of the tenants of the vill of Islip that each tenant shall depasture beasts in the field under supervision according to his tenure, that is to say each tenant of a virgate of land shall depasture four beasts in the field, each tenant of half a virgate of land two beasts, and each tenant of a cottage one animal, and that none of them shall sell his share of pasture to another although he have no beasts himself; pain of 6s. 8d. on each offender.\(^\text{12}\)

1421, 4 August. It is agreed that no sheep depasture in the field called East Field until all the corn in the aforesaid field is garnered; pain of 12d. on each offender. Item that all foals in the fields be tied to their mares with ropes; pain of 6d. on each offender. Item that no man tether his beasts in the Corn Field until the aforesaid corn is garnered; pain of 12d. on each offender.\(^\text{13}\)

1423, 28 July. The bye-laws are almost verbally identical with those of 1419, except 8d. for 6d. in the third law.

And for guarding the corn fields in harvest time William Gorge and William Ote were elected wardens of the fields, and they took the oath.\(^\text{14}\)

1427, 27 March. It is ordained and agreed with common assent that all tenants of the vill of Islip shall dig and fence a ditch called 'le Hammedych' and a ditch called 'le Reede', each one in respect of his own land, before the feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross;\(^\text{16}\) pain on each defaulter of 3d. payable to the lord and 3d. to the church etc.\(^\text{16}\)

1446, 14 May. It is ordained by command of the Steward and with the common assent of all the tenants of the vill of Islip that no tenants put their mares in any fields without tying their foals to their necks to prevent them grazing on the corn of all the tenants; pain of 20d. on each of them who does this or breaks the ordinance. Item, that no tenant of a virgate of land depasture more than 4 beasts or 2 mares in any sown fields, no tenant of half a virgate more than 2 beasts or 1 mare, and no tenant of a cottage more than 1 cow or 1 mare at least [\text{most}]; if any one breaks this ordinance let him incur a penalty of 2s.\(^\text{18}\)

1447, 6 March. It is ordained with the common assent of all the tenants that each tenant ditch and inclose the piece of common ground called 'le Hamme' according to the amount of land which he holds, before the feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Mary next to come,\(^\text{19}\) pain of 3s. 4d. for each default on their part; that is to say one virgate of land 4d., half a virgate of land 2d., and a cottage 1d.\(^\text{20}\) If anyone breaks this ordinance he shall forfeit his common.\(^\text{21}\)

1419, 17 July. The bye-laws are almost verbally identical with those enacted for Islip at the same court.

And for guarding the corn fields in the whole time of harvest there were elected Thomas Crypse and Richard Fowler as warden[s] of the fields, and they took the oath.70

1420, 26 September. It is agreed with the common assent of the tenants of the vill of Murcot and Fencot that no one cut grass on the common meadow or on the common ground to give or sell to another, but only for his own use; pain of 6s. 8d., 40d. payable to the church and 40d. to the lord. Two wardens, namely John atte Mer and John Clerk' were appointed to keep the aforesaid ordinance etc. It is agreed in like manner with the common assent of the aforesaid tenants that the tenants there rightly and competently make their pound before the feast of Easter next to come;71 pain of 6s. 8d.72

1421, 1 April. It is agreed here in court that the tenants of Mucort and Fencot meet to determine the boundaries and metes in the fields there before the feast of St. Philip and St. James the Apostles next to come;73 pain of 12d. on each defaulter or for each default.74

— 3 October. It is agreed with the common assent of the tenants of the vill of Murcot and Fencot that each one keep his pigs off the common meadow after this court; pain on each offender of 4d. payable to the lord for each trespass. They chose from among their own number and with common assent two keepers and wardens, namely John Brytt and John Palmer etc.76

1427, 3 October. It is ordained by the Steward and granted by the common assent of all the tenants of Murcot and Fencot that all the tenants of Murcot and Fencot come at the summons of the reeve there, from whichever vill the said reeve shall happen to have been chosen; pain on each of them defaulting of 40d. payable to the lord. It is ordained by the Steward and granted by the common assent of all the tenants of Murcot and Fencot that all the aforesaid tenants of Murcot and Fencot who want their pigs to go on the meadow there ring them; pain of 40d. on each of them etc.77

1443, 22 October. It is ordained by the Steward that each tenant ring his pigs before the feast of the Apostles Simon and Jude78 to prevent the meadows being turned over; pain on each of them of 3s. 4d. payable to the lord. And that the aforesaid tenants make their pinfold before the feast of All Saints;79 pain of 12d. on each of them.80

1445, 12 March. It is ordained among all the tenants that the close called Westcroft ought to be closed to all tenants, as well those of Murcot as those of Fencot, from the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Mary81 to the season of mowing the meadows.

and weeding the corn. And if any tenant enter with any beasts in the aforesaid period he shall pay 12d. to the lord. Those tenants bound to maintain the fences around the aforesaid close must fence it before the feast of Whitsun next to come; 88 pain of 12d. on each of them. No tenant ought to have unringed pigs, which turn over the lord's soil, until the season of harvest is over; pain of 12d. on each of them defaulting. 89

1450, 3 June. It is ordained by the Steward with the common assent of all the tenants that all the tenants, as well those of Murcot as those of Fencot, dig and scour a ditch called 'Downemede' ditch before the feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary next to come; 84 pain of 2s. on each of them defaulting. 85

1473, 13 October. It is ordained and agreed by all the tenants of Fencot and Murcot that they shall scour their ditches, each one doing his share, and fence and make their hedges and all the lawful ways within the aforesaid vills before the feast of St. Martin next to come after the date of this present law; pain of 3s. 4d. on each offender who can be proved on the aforementioned day to have contravened this law. 87

1474, 18 April. It is ordained and agreed by the Steward and all the tenants there that each tenant of one virgate of land shall have 80 sheep on the common pasture and, accordingly, that each tenant of half a virgate of land shall have 40 sheep; pain on each defaulter of 6s. 8d. payable to the lord. 88

1502, 26 April. It is commanded that each tenant of Murcot having land in the place called 'Heycocke Furlong' and in another place called 'Mabyldon Stubbe' cultivate it sufficiently at the proper season; pain of 3s. 4d. on each of them defaulting. 89

1538, 22 October. 90 And it is ordained that no one in Murcot and Fencot shall keep more sheep on the common there in summer than he can support on his own holding in winter; pain of forfeiting 6s. 8d. for every 20 sheep. And that no one there put his sheep at night in the fields sown with corn, unless they are kept in a fold, from the feast of St. Thomas the Apostle to the feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Mary; 93 pain of 6s. 8d. for every twenty sheep. 94

1539, 2 May. 95 And it is ordained that each tenant there shall keep eighty sheep for a virgate of land for the whole year, and not more, pain of forfeiting 6s. 8d. for every 20 sheep. And that he who does not have or keep a sheep-fold in winter shall keep 60 sheep and not more in summer; the aforesaid pain. And that no one put his sheep in the Stubble Field when harvest is over until the feast of St. Edward; 97 pain of forfeiting 6s. 8d. for every 20 sheep. 98

So far as available, back numbers may be bought by members for 21/-, and by non-members for 25/- from the Hon. Treasurer, F. P. Redman, c/o Bodleian Library. The Society welcomes the names of persons likely to be interested in its work and appreciates the gift of any spare back-numbers, especially volumes 1-7.
Rules of the Society

I.—The Society shall be called The Oxfordshire Record Society.

II.—The objects of the Society shall be to print and distribute to subscribers such documents relating to the history of the County of Oxford as have not been previously edited; to print other material relating to the history of the County; and to endeavour to give advice and assistance to custodians of historical records for the care and preservation of such records.

III.—The Annual Subscription shall be one guinea payable in advance on the first of January. The annual subscription may be commuted for a subscription of twenty guineas. After 200 members have joined the Society an entrance fee of five shillings may be charged.

IV.—Each member of the Society, having paid his or her subscription, shall be entitled to a copy of every work produced by the Society, and to vote at the general meetings held within the period subscribed for.

V.—The Management of the Society shall be vested in a Council consisting of not less than six, nor more than twenty ordinary members, together with the President, Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secretary and Hon. General Editor, as ex-officio members, all to be elected at the Annual General Meeting. An editorial sub-committee of the Council shall assist the Hon. General Editor. Vacancies occurring between the general meetings may be filled by the Council itself.

VI.—A General Meeting of subscribers shall be held annually in Oxford to receive the Hon. Secretary’s report of the work of the Society, and the Hon. Treasurer’s financial statement; to elect officers for the ensuing year; and to transact the business of the Society generally. Notice of any other business to be brought forward shall be given to the Hon. Secretary in the course of the preceding December. A special general meeting may be held at any time by direction of the Council, or on request of not less than ten members of the Society in writing.

VII.—The Council shall meet at least once in every year, and at such times as may be deemed necessary by itself. Three members, excluding the Hon. Treasurer, F. P. Redman, Bodleian Library, Oxford, Hon. Secretary and Hon. General Editor, shall form a quorum.
