The Oxfordshire Record Society, founded in 1919, exists for the publication of documents relating to the history of the county of Oxford (including that part formerly in Berkshire). Nearly sixty volumes have been published, covering a wide range of subject matter and virtually every period from the tenth century to the twentieth.

Publication of the extraordinary wealth of documentary material which survives for Oxfordshire can only be achieved through members' subscriptions. In return, on payment of the first subscription, new members may choose a free copy of any of the Society's volumes still in print, and thereafter they will receive new volumes as they are produced. Subscribers are entitled to attend the Annual General Meeting each Summer, usually held in one of the county's historic houses or in a college of the University of Oxford.

Applications for membership (currently £6 per annum) should be sent to the Hon. Secretary, c/o Bodleian Library, Oxford OX1 3BG.

FOREWORD

Oxfordshire Protestation Returns, edited by Mr C.S.A. Dobson and published in 1955 as vol. 36 of the Oxfordshire Record Society series, is one of the most sought-after of the Society's volumes but has long been out of print. Several years ago Mr Jeremy Gibson offered to prepare what was then intended to be a straight reprint. However, it was realised that the volume would benefit from resetting (if only to restore the correct order of names in individual lists, confused by the printers in the first edition). That gave the opportunity of adding other relevant records, subsequently discovered or transcribed, as described in Mr Gibson's introduction. Twenty years ago Oxfordshire was enlarged to include the Vale of the White Horse, formerly north-western Berkshire. The extant returns for that area, the Abingdon Division, have been added.

The near contemporary tax assessments for the northern hundreds of Banbury, Bloxham, and Ploughley had been transcribed some time ago by Mr Gibson. As General Editor of the Banbury Historical Society he had intended to include these lists in a volume to be published by that Society, and a generous grant had already been secured from the British Academy. The reissue of the Protestation Returns enables the tax assessments (with the addition of Bampton and Hormer Hundreds) to appear alongside rather than in a separate book: hence the collaboration and joint publication by the two societies.

Through lack of funds the earlier edition lacked any index. This was remedied as recently as 1993 in a separate publication by the Oxfordshire Family History Society. That index, prepared by Mrs Gwyn de Jong, is incorporated in this volume's index of personal names by kind permission of her and of that Society, but it has been greatly expanded. The process of compiling the indexes, and the publication of Dr D.M. Barratt's Oxfordshire Probate Records 1516-1732 (British Record Society Index Library, 1984-5, vols. 94-5) have made it possible to identify many doubtful names whilst checking the manuscript returns. What has emerged is substantially a new, greatly enlarged edition.

The Oxfordshire Record Society is grateful to Mr Dobson for his warm encouragement. This new edition could not have been produced without Mr Gibson's familiar energy and tenacity, not just in checking the original manuscripts, transcribing fresh records, and almost doubling the size of the index, but also in preparing the entire volume on computer so that production costs were confined to printing and binding. In addition, in memory of his friend, and friend of many local historians, Mr Jim Brister, for many years on the staff of the Bodleian Library, he has generously met the considerable cost of including the indexes.

INTRODUCTION

In February 1641/2 most adult males in England and Wales took the Protestation Oath as ordained by Parliament almost a year earlier. The background to this quasi-census is described below.

Just three months later a tax was raised as a fixed assessment, which had a much lower tax threshold, and consequently many more taxpayers, than the subsidies which had been the normal method of Stuart and Tudor taxation.

Geographical coverage is incomplete for both protestation returns and assessments. When both survive, this proximity in time means that many of the same names occur, albeit often under wildly differing spellings. The assessment also includes absent landowners or nobility whose oath would have been taken elsewhere. The occasional protestation return includes women. Tax collectors had no sex bias, and women (often, alas, without their Christian names) appear regularly in the assessment. Where one record is lost, the other can go some way to replacing it.

The tax assessments have only survived sporadically and infrequently (as indeed have the protestation returns). However, the advantages of parallel publication have already been perceived by T.L. Stoate, editor of The Somerset Protestation Returns and Lay Subsidy Rolls 1641/2 (transcribed by A.J. Howard; Bristol, 1975).

As described in the Foreword, the Oxfordshire returns were first published by the Oxfordshire Record Society as volume 36, forty years ago. Since then, boundaries have been redrawn and Oxfordshire now includes much of what used to be northern Berkshire. For the purposes of the Protestation, Berkshire hundreds were arranged in Divisions, of which those for Abingdon, Newbury and Reading have extant returns. The hundreds comprising the Abingdon Division, Moreton, Ock, and Horner, are now largely in Oxfordshire and, bordering the Thames, must always have had close links with the county. Also, the sole surviving Berkshire tax assessment is for Horner Hundred.

The Protestation Returns of 1641/2

To the local historian and genealogist, the value of the Protestation Returns lies in the fact that they contain the names of persons living in the middle of the seventeenth century. Although the returns only survive for part of Oxfordshire, they still cover between a third and half of the adult male population of the county, to which is now added the Abingdon Division of north Berkshire.

The Protestation Returns owe their existence to the unrest which prevailed in Parliament during the passage of the Bill for the Attainder of the Earl of Strafford in 1641. The House of Commons had passed the Bill on 21st April and the House of Lords gave it a second reading on 27th April. The Upper House was known, however, to favour the continuation of the procedure by impeachment, and it was not certain whether it would finally pass the Bill. Moreover, the House of Commons learnt on 28th April that a plan had been made for rescuing Strafford, and rumours were current of various plots to persuade the King to use the army to overawe Parliament and thus release Strafford. An unsuccessful attempt made by the King to occupy the Tower of London caused rioting near the Houses of Parliament and his speech in the House of Lords on 1st May against the execution of Strafford also produced great alarm.

On 3rd May John Pym declared in the House of Commons that it was necessary to be careful that the King ‘have good counsellors about him’ and that the House of Commons ought to ‘let him understand that he is bound to maintain the laws and that we take care for the maintaining of the Word of God.’ After other speakers had spoken vaguely of the necessity for the organisation of some form of resistance, Henry Marten said: ‘We are honest disjointed fellows. Let us unite ourselves for the pure worship of God, the defence of the King, and his subjects in all their legal rights.’ George Peard reminded the House of the oath of association taken in Queen Elizabeth’s reign, and Denzil Holles said that a similar protestation would show the world that they were united. Accordingly a committee of ten members was appointed to draw up a form of Protestation, and it was ordered that no members should stir out of the House without leave, nor speak to the messengers. The Protestation was agreed upon and all the members were ordered to sign it. On the following day, 4th May, the Protestation was agreed to by the House of Lords and all Protestant Peers signed it. It ran as follows:-

‘I, A.B., do in the Presence of Almighty God, promise, vow, and protest to maintain to defend, as far as lawfully I may, with my Life, Power, and Estate, the true Reformed Protestant Religion, expressed in the doctrine of the Church of England, against all Popery and Popish Innovations, within this realm, contrary to the same Doctrine and according to the Duty of my Allegiance, His Majesty’s Royal Person, Honour and Estate, as also the Power and Privileges of Parliaments, the lawful Rights and Liberties of the subjects, and every Person that maketh this Protestation, in whatsoever he shall do in the lawful pursuance of the same; and to my power, and as far as lawfully I may, I will oppose and by all good Ways and Means endeavour to bring to condign Punishment all such as shall, either by Force, Practice, Counsels, Plots, Conspiracies or otherwise, do any Thing to the contrary of any Thing in this present Protestation contained; and further that I shall, in all just and honourable ways, endeavour to preserve the Union and Peace betwixt the Three Kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland; and neither for Hope, Fear, nor other Respect, shall relinquish this Promise, Vow and Protestation.’

On 6th May a Bill was introduced in the House of Commons, imposing the obligation of signing the Protestation upon all Englishmen. It provided that those who refused to sign were to be held incapable of holding office, and that Peers who refused to sign were to be deprived of their seats in the House of Lords. It was doubtless this latter provision which led the Upper House to reject the Bill on 29th July. But on 30th July, the House of Commons passed a resolution that all who refused the Protestation were unfit to hold office in Church or Commonwealth, and this was ordered to be printed. It was not, however, until the following January that the Protestation itself was printed. Copies were sent down to the sheriffs without further delay and accompanying them was a letter of instructions from the Speaker of the House of Commons:-

‘Gentlemen,

It is now some months since the Protestation taken by the Lords and House of Commons was sent down into the country, with an Expectation, that it should be generally taken throughout the Kingdom, for a Testimony of their good Concurrence with the Parliament; but through the Remissness of some of those that had the Care of recommending it to others, very many there be that have not hitherto taken it; Now the House of Commons, having discovered many dangerous Designs plotted against the Parlaiment, and especially, that of the Fourth of this Instant January,* which, had it taken Effect, would have stricken not only at the Privileges, but at the very Being of Parliament (as will more appear by the Declaration herewith sent unto you, which the House desires you to publish throughout all Parts of the County) have thought fit once again to recommend the Taking of this Protestation; and have therefore commanded me, in their name, to desire you the High Sheriff and the Justices of the Peace of that County to meet together in one Place, as soon as possible you may, and there to take the Protestation yourselves; and then, dispersing yourselves into your several Divisions, that you will call together the Minister, the Constables, Churchwardens, and Overseers of the Poor of every Parish, and tender unto them Churchwardens, the Protestation, to be taken in your Presence, and to desire of them, that they will very speedily call together the Inhabitants of their several Parishes, both Householders and others, being of Eighteen Years of Age and upwards, into One or more Places, according to the Largeness of their Parishes, and to tender unto them the same Protestation, to be taken in their Presence; and to take their Names, both of those, that do take it, and do refuse to take the same Protestation; and to return them to yourselves, at such time as you shall appoint; which the House desires may be so speedily, from them, to the Knights and Burgesses serving for that County before the Day of; wherein the House desires your greatest care and Diligence, as a Matter very much importing the Good both of the King and Kingdom; which being all I have in Command, I rest,

Your very loving Friend.

London, January 19th 1641.’

The ministers, churchwardens, constables, and overseers of the poor took the Protestation before the justices of the peace at the local market town - for Bampton and Wootton Hundreds at Woodstock on 14th February (pages 1, 139); for Banbury and Bloxham Hundreds at Banbury (page 72); for the Abingdon Division on 28th February at Abingdon (page 173). Within the next few weeks the people in their various towns and villages had also taken it. The lists of names were collected together and sent to Westminster later in March.

* The attempt made by King Charles in person to arrest Sir Arthur Hesilrigge, Denzil Holles, John Pym, William Strode, and John Hampden in the House of Commons.

Unfortunately the returns have survived for only seven of the fourteen hundreds in Oxfordshire (see map, page xxiv): Langtree and Binfield in the south; Bampton, Banbury, Bloxham, Chadlington, and Wootton in the north and west. Even in these hundreds some parishes are missing: Binfield: Bix, Caversham (see below) and Shiplake; Langtree: Checkendon, Crowmarsh Gifford, Mapledurham and Whitchurch; Wootton: Bladon (including the borough of New Woodstock), Eynsham and Hanborough; Chadlington: Idbury, Little Rollright, Sarsden and Swerford; Banbury: Banbury (parish and borough) and the chapelry of Epwell (part of the parish of Swalcliffe, in Banbury Hundred, but itself part of Dorchester Hundred, which would account for its return being missing). Sibford Ferris and Sibford Gower, hamlets in Swalcliffe parish but in Bloxham Hundred, appear with Swalcliffe under Banbury Hundred. South Stoke (surrounded within the county by Binfield Hundred) was another outlying part of Dorchester Hundred which is consequently missing. Shenington, contiguous with Banbury and Bloxham Hundreds, and Widford, contiguous with Bampton and Chadlington Hundreds, were enclaves of Gloucestershire, so are not amongst the returns published here. Similarly, Langford and Shilton, enclaves of Berkshire in Bampton Hundred, do not appear, though Grafton and Radcot, Oxfordshire hamlets in Langford, are included. The hundreds that are entirely missing are Bullingdon, Dorchester, Ewelme, Lewknor, Pirton, Ploughley and Thame; and the city of Oxford (apart from the University). Caversfield, a Buckinghamshire enclave surrounded by Ploughley Hundred, was in Buckingham Hundred, for which there are protestation returns, and so that has been able to be included (page 109).

Of the places for which returns are extant, Ipsden and Yarnton give only the names of clergy, churchwardens and constables. Fortunately (since the first edition) the full return for Yarnton has been discovered misfiled under Shropshire and its alternative name of Eardington, so is included here. Lists for Caversham, missing from Binfield Hundred, were identified by the late Brigadier F.R.L. Goadby in the parish registers, and are also included here.

In former northern Berkshire the coverage is equally sparse, restricted to the three hundreds of Moreton, Ock and Hormer which comprised the Abingdon Division; nothing for the north-west Faringdon area or around Wantage. Places in the Newbury and Reading Divisions are listed in Appendix B (page 208). Avington, near Hungerford, was mistakenly identified as Abingdon, being listed as such and bound with the Abingdon Division places. It belongs in the Newbury Division, and is omitted here.

It is noticeable that in both counties borough returns - Abingdon, Banbury, Wallingford, and Woodstock - are missing, even when the hundreds in which they lay are extant; as well as Oxford itself. Why so many do not appear to exist is uncertain. There is one fact which suggests that the missing Returns were never sent to Westminster or were lost shortly after their despatch. Some person, either a County officer such as the Sheriff, or a Parliamentary officer at Westminster, compiled at the time a list of the recusants (see page 148) in the individual returns for Bampton, Banbury, Chadlington and Wootton hundreds (there being no recusants in Binfield, Bloxham or Langtree hundreds). There were certainly recusants in Ploughley Hundred (for which the Protestation is missing) as they were listed in the assessment (having been specially targetted for double taxation) and there must have been recusants in other hundreds and the city of Oxford too. It seems doubtful whether the compiler ever saw the returns for the rest of the county and whether in fact they ever reached Westminster. The fact that the list was made indicates that one of the principal objects of the Protestation was to discover the number of Roman Catholics in the country (as described below), and a committee was indeed appointed by the House of Commons on 16th April 1642 to consider what action should be taken towards the recusants. No further proceedings were, however, taken, probably owing to the outbreak of the Civil War.

The Protestation Returns are housed in the House of Lords Record Office in the Palace of Westminster. They are in general written throughout on paper, mostly in foolscap sheets watermarked with various kinds of devices, now guarded and bound in large volumes covering several counties each. They are arranged in approximate alphabetical order by hundreds or divisions, and that order is followed here, with the folio numbers of the original shown for each place. The order of names will be found to differ greatly from that in the first edition, as the printers of that effectively confused the original transcription by running on columns from one page to the next rather than completing each page in turn.

Usually the returns are in good condition and, as they were usually written in one hand only, probably the minister's, are reasonably legible. Occasional returns include signatures and 'marks'. In Oxfordshire there are just five: Alvescot (page 3); Claydon (frontispiece and page 41) and Mollington (pages 44-5), with the same curate; North Stoke (page 103); and Steeple and Middle Aston (page 119). However, Henley-on-Thames, whilst not showing marks, includes many signatures. In the Abingdon Division of Berkshire no less than ten places have signatures and marks. Difficult handwriting, unusual layouts and number of columns are shown with each place. Doubtful readings are indicated by '[?]'.

The Oxfordshire returns contain the names of approximately 11,800 men of the age of eighteen and over, with a further 1,375 in the Abingdon Division of Berkshire. The number in each place is shown in square brackets against the name or preamble, but these are not guaranteed as precisely accurate in all cases. In a few Oxfordshire instances the names of the women are included, either intermingled with the men (Asthall, Southleigh, Stanton Harcourt and Wilcote), or in separate lists (Combe, Minster Lovell and Steeple Barton). The most interesting are the adjacent parishes of Cokethorpe (with Hardwick and Yelford) and Ducklington, where the names are in family groups. Nicholas Shepard, vicar of Appleford and Sutton Courtenay in Berkshire, divided his lists into 'householders' and 'children and servants' (but no women!). Many uncommon names will be found, the most unusual being 'Earth & Ashes Gradnum' in the parish register list at Caversham (page 52).

Of particular interest on account of the special reservations and provisos is the Return from Oxford University. It is of some importance because it contains the names of over two thousand members of the University, some of whom have not been recorded elsewhere. This figure includes a small number of college servants. Unlike the parish lists there are almost no Christian names. More than a quarter of the entries are marked as 'ab [sent] or ill, leaving the impression that not everyone in the University was completely in favour of the Protestation. After Feilding's name (Balliol, page 162) was the word 'deliberabit' and there were some independent souls who made up their own form of Protestation. Under each college or hall the names are to an extent grouped, with dashes separating them. Such grouping is here shown by breaks in the columns of names.

In the parishes there is a picture of wholehearted endorsement 'and none of all those persons did refuse but did all very willingly take it at the sayd time.' Even those absent would be vouched for: 'These parties ... are not in the towne nor have bine since this protestation was in agitation in our parish and wee doubt not but when they returne they will protest it and subscribe unto it.' In the riparian parishes of Rotherfield Greys (page 58) and Streatley (Berks., page 199) 'onely [those] upon necessary occasions were absent being Barge men & employed in y'r vocations.' Even so, at Sunningwell (Berks., page 200) 'William Ariese have not taken it, he concealeth himselfe being in debt as they alledge.'

A major object of the exercise was to discover the number of people still faithful to the old Roman church. Some individuals like John Phipps of Charlbury 'simplye refuseth not but demurres upon it as pretending not to understand what is meant by the true reformed Protestant religion.' In Standlake three recusants were persuaded to sign all the same. In Steeple Barton Mr Ralph Sheldon 'assented to the protestation so far, as it concerned the defence of the King's Maiesties person and state, the priviledges of Parliament ... dissenting onely, from one clause of religion standing in opposition to what they professe, being the religion of the Church of Rome.' These names, for Oxfordshire, are summarised on page 148.

A list of the extant Protestation Returns for England and Wales will shortly appear in the series of Guides published by the Federation of Family History Societies, compiled by the editor of this volume.

The Tax Assessment of 1642

The king's need of money to pay for the Scottish wars forced him to abandon his lengthy period of personal rule and summon Parliament: first, in April 1640, the Short Parliament, which lasted only three weeks; and, after the disastrous Second Bishops' War, in November 1640, what became known as the Long Parliament.

Thus in 1641 and 1642 three methods of direct taxation were adopted: a Tudor type subsidy, a poll tax and a fixed assessment of a type which was later to become common during the Commonwealth period and in the reign of Charles II.

The Subsidy was passed in December 1640, and approved by the king in February 1640/1: an Act for the relief of His Majesty's army and the northern parts of the kingdom (16 Charles I c.2), granting four entire subsidies in two separate payments, the first by 27th February 1640/1 and the second by 15th April 1641. By a subsequent act (c.4) two more were granted to be paid by 20th November 1641. With subsidies, in general only the wealthier were taxed, half a dozen or so in villages, twenty to forty in towns. The records engendered by these subsidies are in the Public Record Office in class E.179. Those for Oxfordshire are referenced 164/477-508 and for Berkshire 75/352-362.

In July 1641 by an 'Act for the speedie provision of money for disbanding the Armies and settling the peace of the two Kingdoms of England and Scotland' (16 Charles I c.9) a Poll Tax was voted. No records of this appear to survive.

The preamble to legislation for the Assessment reads:

'An Act for the raising and leavying of moneys for the necessary defence and great affairs of the Kingdoms of England and Ireland and for the payment of Debts undertaken by Parliament ... and in order to suppress that most wicked and execrable rebellion in Ireland' (16 Charles I c.32).

The tax to some extent broke new ground. A fixed sum, £400,000, was to be raised from the whole country and this was broken down by counties in the Act, Oxfordshire's share being £6,418.4s.9d. (in comparison, Somerset had to raise £16,879). It was left to the commissioners to divide this first among the hundreds and then into parish totals. Assessors were appointed as in the subsidies to raise the parish amounts by assessments on individuals, but how this was done is not known. All Parliament did was to lay down the exemption limits, which were £1 in land, £3 in goods and £10 in wages, and then say that everyone who qualified was to pay his proportionate share. The wage limit was enough to exempt the ordinary labourer as the maximum rate of wages fixed by the (Somerset) county magistrates in 1685 was £4.10s. per annum for men servants (Victoria County History, Somerset). Despite the fact that exemption limits were, apart from the wage clause, the same as those for the subsidy, the net was cast more widely, many more taxpayers were roped in and the assessments finely graded down as low as a few pence in some cases; in some places fractions of a penny were taken into account.

Aliens and recusants had to pay double, and half of this was to be no part of the £400,000 but 'surplusage' (see pages 117 and 207) and disposed of for the purpose of the Act; if they did not contribute under this they paid a poll tax of 2s.8d. Payment was to be made in two equal amounts, the first to be taxed before 20th May 1642 and paid into the exchequer before 20th June and the second to be taxed before 20th November 1642 and paid before 20th December. The assessments published here all form part of the first collection.

An interesting and, for the local historian, a most useful feature of the tax was that unlike the subsidy 'every person to be rated and taxed shall be so in every county for the estate he hath and if he have an estate in severall places in one county then to be rated in the said severall places in each severall county'. As a result of this some individuals appear as taxpayers in more than one parish and it should be possible to obtain some idea of the extent of a man's property. For example, see Lord Saye and Sele's various holdings in north Oxfordshire or, at a humbler level, those of the Vivers family, Banbury tradesmen, in neighbouring villages. This rarely occurs in the subsidy and, when it does, in theory at any rate, it should be accompanied by the certificate of residence excusing him from payment in all but his home parish.

The great importance of this assessment, in comparison with other surviving taxation records of this time, is its low tax threshold. At Banbury (borough and parish) there were 47 subsidy taxpayers in May 1641 [P.R.O. E.179/164/481]. A year later 328 taxpayers were named in the assessment published here. This is doubly useful, as the protestation return for Banbury is missing. The same is the case for Ploughley Hundred.

As mentioned above, for those places where the assessment can 'duplicate' the protestation returns, the discrepancies in the spelling of names can be a salutary reminder of the need to check every possible variant. It has also made it possible, combined with a long experience of the surnames of north Oxfordshire, to correct a number of misreadings which occurred in the first edition. It must be emphasised how ambiguous the handwriting can make these names. A glance at the list of clergy and officials for Bampton Hundred (pages 1-3), where the names as they appear in the parish lists are shown in square brackets, will show how inaccurate even contemporaries could be. There are sure to be misreadings still, which those with a close knowledge of particular places may be able to correct.

Unfortunately, these valuable tax assessments survive only sporadically. Oxfordshire, with returns for four hundreds, is better off than most counties, whilst Berkshire has only Horner Hundred (P.R.O. references are given on page 207). The nationwide coverage will be shown in the forthcoming guide to these mid-seventeenth century listings by the present editor.

Index

The first edition of the Oxfordshire Protestation Returns was unindexed. At the suggestion of the present editor, Mrs Gwyn de Jong compiled a full index to that, which was published by the Oxfordshire Family History Society in 1993. As this was a publication to be used separately from the actual book, it was necessary (as it had been for the earlier O.F.H.S. index to the 1665 Hearth Tax) to identify each reference by abbreviated placenames rather than the traditional page numbers. Such a system, although not as immediately easy to follow, offers many advantages. To this editor, at least, it has made it possible to add first the assessment entries and then the Berkshire section without laborious re-indexing. It also means that, once the system is understood (see page 296) the index in itself can convey plenty of information. At a glance one can see in which places names occur, decide whether they are near to each other or far distant, and if those referenced were assessment payers (indicated by the letter 'S', for Subsidy). Much effort has gone into grouping names with variant spellings, appropriately cross-referenced. Even so, users should be vigilant for other possible versions.

Acknowledgments

From Mr C.S.A. Dobson's first edition:

I wish to thank Sir Frank Lascelles, Clerk of the Parliaments, for giving permission for the Returns to be printed, and Mr Maurice Bond, Clerk of the Records, House of Lords, who kindly read my manuscript and identified some names which I had been unable to decipher. Finally I must express my grateful thanks to Mr Charles Clay, Librarian to the House of Lords, who also read much of my work and has constantly given me the kindly encouragement, gentle guidance, and sound advice needed by one who, at the beginning, was almost entirely unfamiliar with the characteristics of seventeenth century handwriting.

C.S.A. Dobson

For this edition:

As with the earlier edition I wish to thank the appropriate authorities at the Palace of Westminster for permission to publish the Oxfordshire returns once again, and this time to include the Abingdon Division of Berkshire. I would also like to thank Mr David Johnson, the present Clerk of the Records, for his friendly welcome and for personally checking various dubious readings; and his staff at the House of Lords Record Office for their courteous supervision and very prompt provision of photocopies.

The Oxfordshire and Berkshire taxation assessments are reproduced by permission of Her Majesty's Stationery Office and the Public Record Office. Staff there, too, have as usual been very helpful. In particular I would like to thank Mrs Susan Lumas, who allowed me to use her office when transcribing the Berkshire return, has checked dubious readings for me, and has provided constant support and friendship.

The Caversham protestation return is reproduced from the Caversham parish registers by permission of the Berkshire Record Office and the present incumbent.

Mr Christopher Dobson has kindly allowed the re-use of much of his introduction to the first edition. Dr T. L. Stoate has similarly allowed me to use, mainly verbatim, appropriate parts of his introduction to his pioneering edition of the Somerset protestation returns and contemporary tax listings.

Mrs Elizabeth Hampson retyped on to disc all the first edition. Mrs Gwyn de Jong has allowed her index to be the basis of that published here. Bob Boyd of the Oxfordshire Family History Society, who published that index, was able to provide the computer disc from which it was prepared. Kevin Tombs of my printers (and his colleagues) have converted discs. Jeff Long has all along been instrumental in enabling this computer-illiterate editor to prepare the entire text in camera-ready form, with a control over presentation denied to his predecessor. Chris Day, General Editor of the Oxfordshire Record Society, has been supportive throughout the many vicissitudes of this new edition. They all know me well enough to know already how much I owe and thank them.

ff.1r, single column. This list is of the Ministers, Churchwardens, Constables and Overseers of the Poor who took the Protestation Oath at Woodstock on 14th February 1641, as mentioned in the Introduction. Such officials gathered at Woodstock (for Wootton Hundred, see page 139) and other market towns, such as Banbury (see page 72), though no similar lists survive for other Oxfordshire hundreds. Compare instead those for the Berkshire divisions of Abingdon (page 173) and Newbury.

BINFIELD HUNDRED

CAVERSHAM [73 and 101]

[Caversham is missing from the returns of parishes in Binfield Hundred at the House of Lords. However, the late Brigadier F.R.L. Goadby identified two lists in the earliest Caversham parish register (now at the Berkshire Record Office, as Caversham was transferred to Berkshire in 1911) as probably having been prepared in connection with the Protestation Oath.

The earlier is on a blank page following baptisms for 1641, prepared by the Perpetual Curate, William Brice, and records 73 names headed by his own. Many are signatures or have 'marks' which appear to be original. Partly because of the signatures, often in unlettered hands, as well as some fading, many of the names in this list are difficult to identify with certainty. The names are in two main columns with a third short column, all on the verso of a folio contemporarily numbered '8'.

The second list, several folios later (following burials for 1641), has 101 names. It is in a different hand, the same throughout, and much easier to read. There appear to be no signatures and, although those who signed by mark are indicated, the 'marks' themselves are careful copies, not the originals.

An article by Goadby together with a rearrangement of the two lists in one alphabetical sequence appeared in 'The Oxfordshire Family Historian', 3, 7 (Spring 1985), pp. 229-30. In this he suggests that the first list, perhaps incomplete, was written by Brice in Summer 1641, in accordance with the original Parliamentary Bill of 6 May; and that the second was copied into what was then a new register started by his successor (probably Richard Lloyd) soon after his arrival, consequent on the issue of the Proclamation itself in January 1641/2. The page preceding this second list has written at the foot: 'Wee whose Names are heare subscribed' and a series of trial initial letters. The list is in two columns on the recto and one on the verso. Also on this verso is a marriage entry for Allan Zouch Esqr. of Woking, Surrey, and Katherine Hubbart relict of James Hubbart, dated 1st March 1642.

For the purpose of this edition the lists have been retranscribed and appear in their original order, with asterisks indicating those who signed by mark (both originals and copies). /

Mr Good Vice custos Protestatus secundum hanc formam annexam

A I understand the Doctrine allready established in the 39 Articles.

B I understand all Popery Doctrinall, and Innovations Practicall, contrary to the Doctrine allready established.

C I understand this so far, as they shall be evidenced to me, by the Standing Lawes of this Kingdome, Not repugnant to the Lawes of God, to be undoubted, Privileges and Rights. And further, the Maintenance of these Rights of Subjects; I understand not wth reference to one another, to be hereby bound, to imbroyle myself in every private Man's quarrell though I conceive right, but wth Reference to the Publike State.

D I will maintain every person etc. This maintenance I understand not to bind me to maintain them by myself alone but together wth others, consenting and Lawfully authorized. The same, I understand of Opposing in the next clause.

E In all the severall Clauses, I expressly except His Sacred Majestie, and His Lawfull Successors, according to my Oath of Allegiance, not daring to think a disloyal thought, much lesse to lift up my hand against the Lord's Anointed.

F Unlesse the States shall think it expedient to Alter, or Revoke it, in wch case I reserve my Freedom.

I A B. doe in the presence of Almighty God, promise, vow and Protest to Maintain and Defend, as far as lawfully I may, wth my Life, Power and Estate, the True reformed Protestant Religion, expressed in the Doctrine A of the Church of England, against all Popery B and Popish Innovations, within this Realme, contrary to the same Doctrine; and according to the Duty of my Allegiance, His Majesty's Royall Person, Honour and Estate; As also the C Power and Privileges of Parliament; The Lawfull Rights and Liberties of the Subject, and every D person that maketh this Protestation, in whatsoever He shall do, in the Lawfull Pursuance of the same. And, to my power, and as far as Lawfully I may, I will E oppose, and by all good wayes and means, indeavour to bring to condigne punishment, all such as shall either by Force, Practise, Councils, Plotts, Conspiracies, or otherwise do anything to the contrary of anything in this Protestation contained. And further that I shall, in all just and honourable wayes, indeavour to preserve the Union and Peace between the Three Kingdomes of England, Scotland and Ireland. And neither for Hope, Feare, nor other F* Respect shall relinquish this Promise, Vow and Protestation.

[f.166a: attached to the sheet by a silk thread is the following alternative form of protestation as taken by Sharsell:-]

Whether this interpretation or such like might be accepted :-

- 1 I sweare to maintaine the doctrine expressed in the Church of England etc: I understand the doctrine already established in the 39 articles
- 2 I will maintaine this doctrine against all Popery & Popish innovations etc: I understand all Popery doctrinall & innovations Practicall contrary to the doctrine already established.
- 3 I sweare to maintaine the power and priviledges of Parliament & the rights of Subjects etc: I understand this as farre as they be evidenced to me by the standing lawes of this kingdome not repugnant to the lawes of God to be undoubtedt priviledges & rights & further the maintenance of those rights of subjects: I understand not to embroil me self in every private mans quarrell, though I conceive right, but wth reference to the publicke state.
- 4 I will maintaine every person that maketh this Protestation in wtsoever he shall doe in the Lawfull pursuance of the same etc: This maintenance I understand not to bind me to maintaine them by my selfe alone, but together wth others consenting & lawfully authorized, the same I understand of opposing in the next clause.
- 5 I will oppose & bring to condigne punishment etc: in all the severall Clauses I expressly except his Sacred Majesty & his Lawfull successors according to my oath of Allegiance, not daring to thinken a disloyal thought, much less to lift up my hand against the Lords annointed.
- 6 I will never relinquish this protestation etc: unless shall thinke it expedient to alter or revoke it, in wch case I reserve my freedom.

ABINGDON

[The Protestation Return for the Borough of Abingdon and its constituent parishes does not survive, except for the township of Shippon, page 197. The Borough forms part of the Hundred Hormer, for which the Assessment, PRO E179/238/146, is virtually certainly that of May/June 1642. Unfortunately the first membrane, which contained not only the preamble and date but also presumably the major part of Abingdon, is lost. The opening membrane (here numbered 2) has no heading, but the first forty entries conclude with a sum of £68.5s. The comparably sized borough and parish of Banbury (with Neithrop) totalled £64.5s.1d. Barton and Northcourt, Dry Sandford, and Shippon, all parts of Abingdon St. Helen, were separately assessed.]

APPENDIX B

Protestation Returns in neighbouring counties

The survival of protestation returns for Oxfordshire is by no means complete; most of the eastern and southern hundreds are missing. The same is the case in neighbouring counties. In Berkshire, hundreds were grouped into divisions. The Abingdon Division, comprising Moreton, Ock and Hormer Hundreds, is included in the volume. There are also returns for the Newbury and Reading Divisions. Eastern and western hundreds are missing. In Buckinghamshire, there are returns for two out of the eight hundreds, Buckingham and Cottesloe. There are no returns at the House of Lords Record Office for Gloucestershire or Northamptonshire, though for the latter there are lists in the parish registers (similar to those for Caversham in Oxfordshire) for Great Doddington and East Haddon. For Warwickshire there are returns for Coventry City and County, and Knightlow Hundred.

The places constituting these divisions or hundreds are as follows. Places on the (pre-1974) Oxfordshire border are asterisked.

Berkshire, Newbury Division (Compton, Faircross and Kintbury Eagle Hundreds): Aldworth, Avington (this was wrongly identified as Abingdon, so was listed under the Abingdon Division and filed with those returns), Beedon, Boxford, Brightwalton (Brightwaltham), Chaddleworth, East and West Challow, Chieveley (including Courage Snelsmore and Oare), Chilton, Compton, Enborne, Farnborough, Fawley, Frilsham, Greenham, Hampstead Marshall and Norris, Hungerford, East and West Ilsley, Inkpen, Kintbury, Leckhampstead, Letcombe Bassett and Regis, Midgham, Newbury, Peasemore, Shalbourne, Shaw cum Donnington, Little and West Shefford, Speen Church, Speenhamland, Stanford Dingley, Wasing, Welford, Winterbourne Danvers, Woodspeen and Bagnor, Yattendon; and Newbury Division (the list of officials, similar to those for Abingdon and Bampton).

Berkshire, Reading Division (Reading and Theale Hundreds): Aldermaston, Beenham, Blewbury, Bradfield, Bucklebury, Burghfield, Cholsey, Englefield, Padworth, *Pangbourne, *Purley, *Reading (St. Giles, St. Lawrence, St. Mary), Shinfield, *Sonning, Stratfield Mortimer, Sulham, Sulhampstead Abbots and Banister, Thatcham, Tedmarsh, *Tilehurst, Ufton, Woolhampton.

Buckinghamshire, Buckingham Hundred: Addington, Adstock, Akeley, *Barton (Harts-horn), Beachampton, Biddesden, Caversfield (enclave in Oxfordshire, see page 109), *Chetwode, Edgcott, Foxcott, Hillesden, Leckhampstead, Lillingston Dayrell, *Marsh Gibbon, (Maids) Moreton, Padbury, *Preston Bissett, Radclive cum Chackmore, *Shalstone, Steeple Claydon, Stowe, Thornborough, Thornton, *Tingewick, *Turweston, *Twyford, *Water Stratford, *Westbury.

Buckinghamshire, Cottesloe Hundred: Aston Abbots, Cheddington, Cholesbury, Cublington, Drayton Beauchamp and Parslow, Dunton, Edlesborough, Grove, Hardwick and Weedon, Hoggeston, Great and Little Horwood, Ivinghoe, Linslade, Marsworth cum Hawridge, Mentmore, Pitstone cum Nettleden, Slapton, Soulbury, Stewkley, Swanbourne, Whaddon cum Nash, Whitchurch, Wing, Wingrave, Winslow; Cottesloe Hundred (officials).

Warwickshire, Coventry City and County: Ansty, Coventry (city), Exhall, Foleshill, Sowe, Stivichall, Stoke, Wyken.

Warwickshire, Knightlow Hundred: Arley, Harbury, Leamington Hastings (and townships), Napton-on-the-Hill, Offchurch, Ryton on Dunsmore, Stoneleigh, Wappenbury, Weston under Wetherley, Wolfhamcote, Wolston.

APPENDIX C

The Collection in Aid of Distressed Protestants in Ireland

This ‘voluntary’ collection or quasi-tax was gathered at much the same time as the Protestant Oath was taken. Indeed in Buckinghamshire, and doubtless elsewhere, the lists are often headed in words such as ‘The names of all those within our parish that are of the age of eighteen and upwards who have given to the contribution and have taken the Protestantation’ (Buckinghamshire Contributions for Ireland 1642..., John Wilson, Bucks. Record Society, 21, 1983).

The returns are in the Public Record Office. None survive for Oxfordshire. For Berkshire the following are extant, in SP 28/191 (except for Lyford, E 179/272/44):

Beynhurst Hd.: Shottesbrook, White Waltham. Bray Hd.: Bray. Charlton Hd.: Barkham, Finchampstead, [Broad] Hinton, Shinfield, Sonning (incl. Earley), Swallowfield. Faircross Hd.: Newbury. Faringdon Hd.: for Faringdon see Shrivenham Hd. Ganfield Hd.: Buckland, Charney Bassett, Hatford, Longworth, Pusey, Shellingford. Lambourn Hd.: Lambourn. Moreton Hd.: East Garston. Ock Hd.: Appleton, Frilford, Fyfield, Goosey, Kingston Bagpuize, Lyford [E 179/272/44], Marcham, Stanford in the Vale. Ripplesmere Hd.: Easthampstead, Winkfield. Shrivenham Hd.: Ashbury, Baulking, Bourton, Buscot, Coleshill, Compton Beauchamp, Eaton Hastings, Great Faringdon (Wadley, Littleworth and Thrupp in), Fernham [Feaunhamforth] (in Shrivenham), Longcott, Shrivenham (parish) incl. Watchfield Liberty, Uffington. Sonning Hd.: Arborfield, Hurst; for Sonning, see Charlton Hd. Theale Hd.: for Shinfield see Charlton Hd. Wantage Hd.: Ardington, Fawler (in Sparsholt), East and West Hendred, Kingston Lisle (in Sparsholt), East Lockinge.

Textual additions

The Assessments frequently omit Christian names. Where these can fairly easily and with some certainty be ascertained, they have been shown in square brackets. Often they are taken from the Protestation Return. However, for Ploughley Hundred, where this is missing, they usually derive from Vol. VI of the Victoria County History: Ploughley Hundred, or from J.C. Blomfield's eight part History of the northern part of Ploughley Hundred: 1. Deanery of Bicester; 2. Bicester; 3. Cottisford, Hardwick and Tusmore; 4. Middleton and Somerton; 5. Fringford, Hethe, Mixbury, Newton Purcell, and Shelswell; 6. Lower and Upper Heyford; 7. Fritwell and Souldern; 8. Ardley, Bucknell, Caversfield and Stoke Lyne (1882-94). The latter work is a mine of antiquarian notes, alas unindexed, but which well repays examination by those with interest in these places. The relevant volumes of the V.C.H. have also been consulted in cases of uncertainty for other Oxfordshire hundreds.

Using the Index of Personal Names

In the Index of Personal Names (pages 211-290), names are followed by abbreviated place names rather than page numbers. The Index of Places (pages 291-295) provides the key to abbreviations and the necessary page numbers.

The abbreviated place name reference may be followed by one or more of the following:

- 1, -2, -3 = page number (shown in running headline) in a place occupying significantly more than one page.
- +S = the name occurs in the Subsidy (Assessment) list as well as the Protestation Return.
- :S = the name only occurs in the Subsidy (Assessment) list. In the case of places with Subsidy (Assessment) lists only, and no Protestation Return, no such indication is needed or provided.
- (2), (3), (4) = more than one occurrence of the name in the Protestation or Subsidy (Assessment) list for that place.
- AD = Abingdon Division (Berks., covering the Hundreds of Hormer, Moreton and Ock), parish clergy and officials, listed on pages 173-175.
- BH = Bampton Hundred (Oxon.), parish clergy and officials, listed on pages 1-3.
- PH-Rec* = Ploughley Hundred - Recusants in Assessment - listed on page 117.
- Rec* = Recusants in Oxfordshire Protestation Returns - listed on page 148.

Other Societies publishing records relating to Oxfordshire

OXFORD HISTORICAL SOCIETY

This Society, founded in 1884, exists to publish historical records of the University and City of Oxford.

Applications for membership and list of publications should be sent to Robert Peberdy (Hon. Treasurer), 38 Randolph Street, Oxford OX4 1XZ. Most volumes are still in print and available to non-members.

OXFORDSHIRE ARCHITECTURAL AND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Society, formed in 1972 by the amalgamation of the Oxford Architectural and Historical Society (founded in 1839) and the Oxfordshire (formerly North Oxfordshire) Archaeological Society (founded in 1852), exists to further the study of the archaeology, architecture and history of Oxford and Oxfordshire. It publishes Oxoniana and provides a full programme of meetings and excursions.

Subscriptions (£12 including Oxoniana, £5 without the journal) should be sent to the Hon. Assistant Treasurer at the Centre for Oxfordshire Studies, Oxford Central Library, Westgate, Oxford OX1 1DJ, who will be pleased to supply further information about the Society.

OXFORDSHIRE FAMILY HISTORY SOCIETY

The Society was formed in 1976 and is now the largest historical society in the county, with well over a thousand members. It seeks to serve both those with Oxfordshire ancestors and those now living in the county but with ancestors elsewhere. It publishes The Oxfordshire Family Historian three times a year and in addition booklets and microfiche providing information relating to Oxfordshire people and families as well as indexes to such records.

The subscription is £9 a year; further information is available from the Hon. Secretary, c/o Oxfordshire Archives, County Hall, New Rd, Oxford OX1 1ND.

OXFORDSHIRE LOCAL HISTORY ASSOCIATION

The Association seeks to bring together the many historical societies in the county, however large or small their area of interest. There is a twice-yearly journal, Oxfordshire Local History, and at least two meetings a year.

The annual subscription is £7, payable to the Hon. Treasurer, Mr B. Woods, 110 Evans Lane, Kidlington, Oxon. OX5 2JB.

BANBURY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Society was founded in 1957 and promotes the history of the Banbury area, both north Oxfordshire and the adjacent parts of Northamptonshire and Warwickshire. A journal, Cake & Cockhorse, is published three times a year, and a records series has produced regular volumes of which this is the twenty-fourth.

The Subscription is £10 per annum; details of membership and publications still in print are available from Banbury Museum, 8 Horsefair, Banbury OX16 0AA.
